This being "A Simple Game" doesn't prevent you (the dev(s)) from designing it in an appropriate way ...

For instance, since the point of the game is to fall and avoid obstacles, why do we have to set manually, with the mouse, the point of view for each try ? This is the most frustrating thing, because the difficulty should come from the obstacles themselves and not the badly designed camera :V. this game is so bad nont buy it the hit boxes are way out then you think and you die before you touch the object in your way it would be fine if you had legs which you dont and all you hear is ohhh or ahhhh.
